

THE UNIVERSITY of EDINBURGH

Summer School – Code of Conduct & Parental Consent

Purpose

We hope that every student on the Summer School has a safe and enjoyable time in Edinburgh, and gains the opportunity to develop their academic skills and experience student life.

This can only be achieved within a framework of mutual trust and confidence between staff and students and in an environment where everyone respects the rights of other people.

This Code of Conduct, alongside the University of Edinburgh's general Code of Student Conduct (<http://www.docs.sasg.ed.ac.uk/AcademicServices/Discipline/StudentCodeofConduct.pdf>) and Dignity and Respect Policy (www.ed.ac.uk/equality-diversity/dignityrespect), states what expectations the University of Edinburgh has for student conduct, outlines examples of misconduct and how the Centre for Open Learning (COL) staff will handle such misconduct. For students, it sets out what support they can expect from staff. It also outlines responsibilities and actions for staff who investigate alleged misconduct and who apply disciplinary procedures.

Both the student and their parent or guardian must sign this Code of Conduct to indicate that they understand and accept the expectations set out.

Scope

The Code of Conduct applies to all Summer School students. It also applies to;

1. Activities which take place on the University of Edinburgh campus including areas such as libraries, student unions, computer labs, sports facilities, laboratories and student accommodation
2. All external field trips and social programme events offered as part of the course
3. Activities which take place during the course – including arrival and departure dates. The University of Edinburgh reserves the right to investigate instances of student misconduct which take place out of normal class time, or following the end of the course
4. Any activity not covered by the above points which is believed to adversely affect the safety, interests or reputation of the University of Edinburgh, its students and staff

Code of Conduct

All Summer School students are required to conduct themselves in a responsible and respectful manner in their day to day classes and social programme activities, and whilst at their accommodation. The following list, although not exhaustive, sets out the expectations for student conduct:

1. Students must respect the rights and views of other students and staff at all times
2. Students must, at all times, ensure their behaviour does not affect the safety, interests or reputation of the University of Edinburgh, its students and staff
3. Students must follow the instructions of staff, including the accommodation assistants and student helpers, at all times

These examples of misconduct could occur online, by email/text and/or using social media as well as participation in the list of activities outlined previously in the scope of this agreement:

Reporting Misconduct

Students can confidentially raise any concerns about misconduct by:

1. Reporting it to their accommodation assistants (who should be your first port of call). You can do this by speaking to the assistants directly, or contacting them electronically. The accommodation assistants will be based in University accommodation (although they may not be in the same building as you), and they will provide full information on how to contact them upon your arrival
2. Reporting it to another member of COL staff, such as your tutor, course or social programme assistants, or a senior member of COL such as the Registration Officer (Becca.Baker@ed.ac.uk), Head of Teaching Office (Claire.Fox@ed.ac.uk) or Deputy Director of Professional Services (Alison.Ballantyne@ed.ac.uk). All senior staff are based at the Paterson's Land building on Holyrood Road, Edinburgh. You can also telephone COL and ask to be put through to them: +44 (0)131 650 4400
3. Emailing the Summer School office: summerschool@ed.ac.uk

Misconduct Procedure

If the Code of Conduct is breached, the following process will be followed by COL staff:

1. If the matter can be dealt with informally, it will be. The accommodation assistant will normally decide if this is the best course of action, consulting with senior COL staff or referring the matter to them as appropriate
2. If the matter is more serious and/or cannot be resolved informally, a senior member of COL staff will formally investigate and may request to meet with relevant students to discuss the issue
3. In extremely serious circumstances, safety concerns are identified and/or it is deemed appropriate and necessary, a senior member of COL staff will contact the parent or guardian of relevant students
